

Singapore's pioneer whisky bar, Quaich Bar Collector launches revolutionary technology – the Duncan Taylor Smart Casks

SINGAPORE, 26th September 2023 – Quaich Bar Collector, the first dedicated whisky bar in Singapore has joined alliances with Duncan Taylor, a luxury scotch whisky specialist to bring forth a revolutionary technology for whisky pouring to the Singapore shore – the Duncan Taylor Smart Casks. The Smart Cask is a testament of Quaich Bar's continual pursuit to push the boundaries of the whisky drinking experience. It also denotes its pivotal contributions to the whisky culture island wide, as a quality whisky institution housing a wide array of vintage boutique whiskies.

At the heart of it, this IoT enabled, and patent-pending technology provides an unparalleled “pouring from a cask” experience and a differentiated digital experience for consumers that is never-before-seen. Developed by Duncan Taylor, an illustrious family-owned business that produces quality Scotch spirits which has had a rich history of producing quality casks to various Scotch distilleries, this comes as no surprise. The Smart Cask also includes a remarkable cloud-based software platform that enables bars and restaurants to customize consumer experience according to their different locations.

Pouring of whisky straight from the cask

Beyond an alternative whisky pouring experience, the Smart Cask surpasses human expertise and significantly improves the whisky pouring experience. The Smart Cask does this through dispensing highly accurate pours and prevents the counterfeit of any spirits. The Smart Cask is also not just a fancy technology but exudes efficiency and functionality at its core. It is a useful tool which has significantly optimized operations and revamped the consumer experience at Quaich Bar Collector. Customers have been able to select their preferred scotch whisky, pour and pay via their mobile phone on their own accord. Additionally, we have also been able to enhance our current way of working as we can monitor transactions and analyze staff performance closely. Inventory turns have also been refined through precise and automated visibility of available spirit and targeted sales incentives.

The Smart Casks have been installed at Quaich Bar Collector, located in Waterfront Plaza. Customers can head on down to the outlet to experience a one-of-a-kind whisky pouring experience at a similarly, out-of-the world whisky bar from today.

About Quaich Bar Collector:

The story of Quaich Bar began with Quaich Bar Collector at Waterfront Plaza. Kickstarted by the team behind The Whisky Store in 2007, Quaich Bar Collector is the first dedicated whisky bar in Singapore. In fact, the bar has been graced with the respectable title of the 'Great Whisky Bar of the World' by the international Whisky Magazine, a testament to their honourable contributions to the whisky culture not just in Singapore but on a global scale.

The name 'Quaich' (pronounced as quake) is derived from the Scottish Gaelic word "cuach" which refers to a traditional two-handed drinking cup or bowl and remains a symbol of welcome and friendship in Scotland. Housing an impressive selection of old and vintage boutique bottles and being a regular pitstop for globally acclaimed distillers for whisky tastings and masterclasses, Quaich Bar Collector is a quality whisky institution and hub for fellow whisky aficionados and for those keen to learn more about whisky alike.
